

Give your family the WORLD

Host an International ELS Student 2018-2019

Every year, the English Language Program at Eckerd College brings students from around the world to study English at Eckerd College. Most of the students prefer to live with American host families because they want to learn American culture as well as study English.

If you have a spare bedroom, a curiosity about other cultures and languages, perhaps you and your family would make a fantastic host family! As a host family you will make lifelong friendships with people around the world.
